Primary liability and PIP - Florida Statute 627.7263

The valid and collectible liability insurance and personal injury protection insurance of any authorized rental or leasing driver is primary for the limits of liability and personal injury protection coverage required by ss. 324.021(7) and 627.736, Florida Statutes.

Scope of the primary clause

The clause addresses the specified liability and PIP priority. It does not establish collision/comprehensive coverage, remove financial-responsibility obligations, or represent that a particular insurance policy covers this rental. Final coverage coordination must match the actual policies and Florida law.

Approved schedules to attach

Driver eligibility and approved-use rules; renter insurance requirements; actual protection terms/activation; mileage, fuel, toll, parking and late-return terms; cancellation/refund/deposit schedule; damage evidence and lawful fees; telematics/privacy disclosures; accident/roadside instructions; pickup/return inspection.

Required evidence

Identity and unexpired license reviewed; MVR with appropriate purpose-specific consent reviewed; qualifying insurance verified; approved protection evidenced; payment/deposit arrangements accepted; inventory checked and other channel blocked; vehicle inspection recorded.
